

Amy and the Feelings Basket

Competition Guidelines

Please read our guidelines carefully to ensure that you understand the rules of the competition and the amazing prize we're giving away.

- This Competition is open to children of any age. Even the really big ones!
- To enter the competition you must:
 - Write out in full what Amy has to say to Curious so that he knows she will take care of her feelings.

AND

- Send us a paragraph telling us what you love the most about The Magic Basket story or send us a picture of something from the story: either a copy of a picture in the book or something from your own imagination.
- All entries must be either emailed to info@feelingsbasket.co.uk or posted to P.O. Box 4227, Bracknell. RG42 9PW. We can't accept anything sent by carrier pigeon as they might make it a bit wet and slimy in their beak and we don't like touching slimy things.
- We're going to be exploding with excitement when we select the winner and we'll want to tell them straight away. If you're the lucky one, please make sure an email address and/or telephone number is included in your letter.
- We want to make sure that everyone who has enters the competition has a chance of winning so please only send one competition entry. You can still send us letters or emails any time you want though. We love getting letter and emails!
- If you don't live in the United Kingdom, you're still welcome to enter the competition.
- We're not very good at foreign languages so please send all entries in English.
- Please make sure your entry is sent to us on or before Saturday 2nd November 2013. Any stories received after the deadline will not be entered into this competition. There will be lots more competitions on the website for you to enter in future though. In fact we're just thinking of the next one right now!
- The winner of the prize will be selected at random. The name of all entrants will be written onto a piece of paper and will be drawn out of a proper old fashioned hat! One of those big black top hats so we can get lots of names in it.
- Please only enter if you're happy for us to publish your letter and/or picture on the website. We want to show the whole world how great you are at writing and drawing.

Amy and the Feelings Basket

- The winner's first name, age and general location will be published on our website. For example, Jack, aged 7, Derbyshire. We will not publish any other personal details.
- The winners name will be published by Wednesday 6th November 2013, because it may take us a long time to write all the names down and put them in the hat. Then we might need a little lie down if we get too excited.
- Only the winner will be notified individually. Sorry we can't write back to everyone, if we did we wouldn't have time to write more books!
- Please make a copy of your picture as we will not be able to return them. We're more than happy to receive photocopies so you can put the real thing on your wall or fridge or toilet door.
- The winner of this competition will receive one copy of every book in the Amy and the Feelings Basket series, for free. Yes, that's right, every one of them... FOR EVER (because we're hoping to be publishing these books for a long time, until Debbie K is much older than she is now and that's pretty old!) As each new book is published you'll receive your own copy delivered by the postman, through your front door (unless you don't have a letter box in it) within 2 weeks of each publishing date.
- Don't worry if you don't win this time, there will be lots more competitions, with some really great prizes again soon. Just keep a look out on the website.

Now you know what to do, how to do it and what you'll get. All you need to do now is read The Magic Basket, find out the answer to the question and send it in with either a letter telling us what you love about the story or a picture of your favourite part.

We can't wait to hear from you!

Good Luck!
